READY FOR SCHOOL—Glenknoll kindergarten teacher Letha Pontious and Principal Nick Siokos greet Roddy Hilzer and Gary Kolafas as they register for the opening of school on Sept. 10.

Teachers Beat Kids To School

School may not begin for children in the Yorba Linda District for another week but for all teachers and administrators the 1975-76 school year began yesterday (Tuesday).

The adults get the jump on the youngsters by having an intensive four day series of in-service training meetings designed to prepare all staff members for the new school year.

Highlight of the beginning of the school year will be the opening of the district's new school, Linda Vista. It will be staffed by 14 teachers under Principal Donald Anderson.

Janet MacLean will be the new principal at the Rose Drive School.

Charles Hammond, Richard Nixon School; Albert Stefan, Mabel Paine School and John Best, Yorba Linda Junior High School, return as principals.

Students will get their first break from classes by observing Veteran's Day on November 11. At Thanksgiving they will have two days off. The Christmas recess extends from December 22 through January 2.

Lincoln Day on February 12 and Washington Day on February 16 will precede the Easter break from April 12 to 16. Memorial Day, May 31 will be the last holiday until school closes on June 10.

'JET' Set To Convene

With the highly successful conclusion of the first "JET" (Job Economics Training) group during June and July, another set of Yorba Linda men and women will begin a second group at the Chamber of Commerce office on September 4 beginning at 7:30 p.m. and running for two hours.

This will be followed by four two-hour sessions on Sept. 11, 18, 25, and October 2. The Chamber underwrites all costs of these programs.

The key topics for each two-hour session are: "Our Economic System, What is it? Profits, What are they and what do they do? Buying Power, what is it good for? Money, How is it produced and what can it do? Government, what does it do and why?"

Placentia FD To Join County

A firefighting package that would provide Placentia citizens the use of an aerial ladder truck at all structure fires and station the paramedics within city limits...at a reportedly lower cost than the Placentia Fire Department now costs, squeaked by city council Tuesday night by one vote.

The vote authorized city participation in a contract with the County of Orange "for providing for the furnishing of fire protection services to the city."

Councilmen Jack Gomez and Robert Langer opposed the resolution for a variety of reasons. Councilman Gomez asked for something in writing from the Local Fire Fighters Union #2147 (AFL-CIO) legal counsel that they would not disrupt the merger. Councilman Langer wanted a more detailed accounting of all the expenses and costs involved "and what the figure would be on the bottom line." Langer also was concerned about fire prevention services.

The meeting, which had been called for the small conference room in City Hall was quickly moved to the meeting room in the new library when most of Placentia's firemen and their wives and members of the public appeared. The matter was not a public hearing and there were few speakers from the floor.

Also attending was Ray Rhoads, executive assistant for Orange County Board of Supervisors Chairman Ralph Diedrich. Rhoads is overseeing negotiations from the county side.

At the close of a two-hour session of intra-council debate, Mayor Robert Lyons voted yes on the intention to pursue a contract for his stated reasons.

"Right now if we have a structural fire in the city of Placentia, if we don't go outside our city limits, we get six men responding to a call. Under the set up proposed by the county, for less money than we're

Police Beat

Saturday, Aug. 30

Like a certain brand of wristwatch, the Troy Club takes a licking but it keeps on ticking.

Located at 5831 Lynbrook Plaza, Yorba Linda, the recreational facility fell victim twice last weekend to peculiarly single-minded burglars. Friday night $10 in cash, half a bag of chocolate-chip cookies, and a can of orange drink were stolen from the club swimming-pool office. Saturday night $5 and 50 copies of Mad Magazine disappeared.

In both cases, police noted, many valuable items were totally ignored.

Shortly after 11 p.m. Saturday thieves stole tools worth an estimated $250 from a Volkswagen parked in a carport area behind apartments at 4672 Plumosa. The owner of the car, Peter J. Opsteegh, a resident at the apartments, had borrowed the tools from a friend to work on the vehicle.

Friday, Aug. 29

Ruben Jara, 24, was found dead Friday afternoon at a residence at 4741 Palm, Yorba Linda. Police had been summoned by Jara's mother, who had been trying to contact him.

Cause of death was tentatively laid to a possible drug overdose.

The attendant at Yorba Linda Union Gas, 18351 Imperial Highway, couldn't help wondering at the young man's taste.

For one thing, he kept raving about what a terrific paint job this van parked at the station had. Coincidentally, the attendant and the van's owner had just been discussing what a crummy paint job the van had.

Finally, after lengthy consideration of the paint job's merits, the strange youth wandered away. The attendant and the van's owner shook their heads in amazement. They walked back to the front of the station.

Three steel-belted radial tires--which had been on display there until the weirdo had distracted the attendant--weren't any more. Monday, Aug. 25

Sometime over the weekend of Aug. 22 to 25, a .22 cal. semi-automatic pistol was reportedly stolen from the office at Carpets by Wayne, 18032 Lemon, Yorba Linda. The possibly hasty thief left the bullets and the holster for the gun behind.

Bicentennial Committee

Tuesday, September 9 will be the next general meeting of the Yorba Linda Bicentennial committee at 7:30 p.m. at the Yorba Linda Woman's Club. All organizations are urged to send a representative to this important meeting. For further information call 524-1132.

Council Report

(Due to the Labor Day holiday the City Council met on Tuesday night instead of Monday night this week. Because of publication deadlines for the Star it was not possible to include a report of the council session in this edition. Articles on the meeting will be published in the Sept. 10 edition. However, by attending the press briefing prior to the meeting it is possible to comment on some of the agenda items. Editor.)

Mayor Carolyn Ewing revealed that she would request an executive session at which council members would be "reminded of what they agreed to do when they took their oath of office, the provisions of the Brown Act and the State Code."

The mayor said her request stemmed from the dispute between the city and the Kraemer family regarding annexation of the latter's property and the Dominguez Ranch annexation.

Ewing stated that "what they did (Kraemer's and their attorney) they had to know what went on in the executive session. I think the one or two of council members might not remember what they said they would do when they took office."

The Kraemer family has sought a stay order challenging the validity of the city's annexation of the Dominguez Ranch. It involves a portion of the Kraemer property.

A court hearing on the matter is scheduled for Sept. 16. Actually, the suit is against the county's Local Agency Formation Commission.

Mayor Ewing also presented a suggested written policy for selection of the mayor and vice mayor. She wants a written policy and a method better than the present one of the person getting the largest vote being the mayor.

The City Administrator was scheduled to report on acquisition of the proposed park site at Yorba Linda and Palm Ave. The appraisal has been updated to a figure of $230,000 and the property owners are reported to be asking $255,000.

Standard Pacific Corporation's appeal to the Planning Commission's decision requiring a 10 foot bikeway to be installed along the El Cajon Canal right of way within a planned tract development, from Rose Drive westerly, was scheduled to be heard.

Ponder Revising Sidewalk Policy

A Traffic Committee policy recommending sidewalks on both sides of all streets was heavily debated at last week's meeting of the committee with the City Council.

Committee members explained that the policy actually means "safe access for pedestrian traffic." A "walkway" would suffice to gain that result, they said.

Consensus was that the higher the density of an area the more sidewalks would be required with them on at least one side of the street. This is the Planning Commission policy.

The committee was requested to consult with the planning staff and spell out the policy requirements in a more specific manner.

Councilman Dale Chaput was shocked to learn that the Yorba Linda School District is busing children from homes bordering the canal. He and other council members were of the opinion that the children could walk and the district could save the expense of two bus runs per day.

A letter was authorized to ascertain the district's reasoning for busing the children.

Other segments of the Policy and Procedures Guide touched upon at the meeting were restrictions on local policies engendered by the State Vehicle Code, loading zones adjacent to private buildings as compared to commercial loading zones, lack of support for "speed bumps", bicyclists on streets that do not have bicycle lanes, and youngsters running across Yorba Linda to get the new Lakeview Center.

Some of these subjects are not covered in the policy guide mentioned as areas possible needing attention.

Dedicate Canyon Park

A 95-acre package of pleasure was gift wrapped and delivered Thursday as Carbon Canyon Regional Park opened its gates to an eagerly awaiting public.

Around 1,000 people turned out for the dedication ceremonies which also gave them a preview look at the vista of lake, trees, tennis courts, children's play grounds, picnic kiosks, a mile and a half of winding bike trails and room to radio fly model planes and to sail model boats. And yards and yards of green stuff.

The park is located less than two miles from Imperial Highway and Valencia Avenue, streets easily recognized in Placentia and Yorba Linda and is available for 50 cents, the price of parking a car all day. Those on foot may enter free.

Groups of 50 persons or more are asked to make arrangements in advance because of the anticipated use of the park.

The dedication ceremonies Thursday combined nostalgia with intentional immediacy and brought pleasure to young and old.

The fascinating history of the area was explored evolving from the original occupants of the land, the Shoshonean Indians to the old Rancho San Juan Cajon de Santa Ana which belonged to Juan Pacifico Ontiveros on to Abel Stearns, a wealthy land baron who next purchased the land.

The part of Carbon Canyon that is Olinda, where the park lies, was a paradise for farmers and ranchers and cattle and sheep grazed in the park fields.

Then came oil and the newly formed Union Oil Company next bought the land. On the park lands were offices, houses, a school and a store. The next innovation was the building of Carbon Canyon Dam, to deter the flooding creek waters.

The park today offers other attractions. A ten-acre redwood grove occupies the south arm and

If everything goes well the probability of Yorba Linda having a new Post Office in the near future looks bright.

Postmaster Carl Tice confirmed that the site on Lemon, between Eureka and Yorba Linda Blvd., is high on the Postal Service priority list. He added that the necessary funds have been budgeted in the current fiscal year appropriations and a start on construction could occur anytime between now and the end of 1975 or early next year.

Tice said the building has been in department budgets since 1971 but only now has received a high enough priority to get serious consideration.

The postmaster declared that if the project does not begin in the 1975-76 fiscal year the funds could go back into the total account and a new priority list might bump the local office down a few notches.

Tice is anxious for the project to get underway. "With the present and anticipated growth of Yorba Linda we want to be able to meet the needs of the public in a newer and larger facility," he said.

The projected building would have 21,000 square feet of working space compared to the present 5,800 square feet which combines the footage in the original office and the expansion into the former meat market on Lemon.

The new post office will have parking for 60 route vehicles, for employees and ample spaces for public. It will be well landscaped, Tice said.

The Yorba Linda Post Office had six routes about 11 years ago when Tice became postmaster. That number swelled to 19 and now has been reduced to 17.

Street Sweeping

City Hall has announced the Street Sweeping Schedule for the month of September.

Residential streets SOUTH of Imperial Highway are swept on Sept. 10 and 24th.

Residential streets NORTH of Imperial Highway are swept on Sept. 3 and 17th.

Car owners are requested to keep their cars off the street overnight on those dates to facilitate the sweeping.

center of the pond.

A platform full of dignitaries were on hand to participate in the dedication, MCed by Diedrich's executive assistant, Ray Rhoads, Yorba Linda resident. Music was provided by the Santa Ana Winds.

Park hours are 7 a.m. to sunset, October 1 through March 31 and 7 a.m. to 10 p.m., April 1 through September 30.

This is the first phase of the park and additional acreage will be added to the current 50 acres, to completion around twice its present size.

WELL STOCKED LAKE at new Carbon Canyon Park attracted many young and adult fishermen on the first day. To tell the truth, the youngsters paid scant attention to the ceremonies and speech making as they were more anxious to try their luck at hooking one or more of the fish.

Ronald Reagan Column

By Ronald Reagan

Copley News Service

Turn around an old U.S. history course maxim that "trade follows the flag" and you have a hint of the government's strategy for normalizing relation with Cuba.

Last week the State Department announced that Latin American subsidiaries of U.S. companies may now obtain licenses to sell to Cuba "in countries where local law or policy favors trade with Cuba."

In effect, this means indirect trade in those Western Hemisphere nations which have begun trading with Cuba since the recent lifting of the OAS (Organization of American States) blanket ban.

The State Department took pains to minimize any diplomatic significance in the new policy. Since it is only one step removed from resumption of direct trade, however, one doesn't need much imagination to believe that a modest amount of indirect trade will make the American people so accustomed to the idea that full trade won't be far off.

Presidential Press Secretary Ron Nessen said of the move, "There is no advantage that we can see in a permanent antagonism between the United States and Cuba."

Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., who has been tub-thumping for normalization for months, said the U.S. sanctions against Cuban trade have been a "self-defeating mistake."

Others of the Washington establishment have been talking in the same vein.

What is missing is any official or even off-the-cuff declaration from our leaders that trade and diplomatic relations won't be resumed unless minimum U.S. requirements are met.

If such requirements have been established, no one is talking about them. In fact, the State Department keeps as low a profile as possible on the matter, not wanting to stir passions among Cuban ex-patriots in the United States or risk a barrage of criticism from conservatives.

The absence of any talk about the need for a quid pro quo in order to normalize relations with Cuba suggests either that the State Department is afraid to insist on one or is keeping secret its plans to get one.

Critics of detente in State's misguided tiptoe diplomacy over the Panama Canal are fearful it's the former.

There is plenty of ground for quid pro quo negotiating with Castro. One item should be an agreement by Cuba to deny landing and refueling rights to Soviet aircraft.

This last spring, Soviet warplanes refueled in Cuba during the worldwide Soviet naval maneuver "Okean 75." They then proceeded to make simulated attack runs off our East Coast.

Other U.S. objectives in quid pro quo bargaining could include denials by Cuba of naval base rights to the Soviets; reaffirmation of U.S. naval base rights at Guantanamo; compensation to Americans for property seized by Castro; free movement between the two nations; written guarantees by Castro that he won't attempt to export his revolutionary tactics to other Western Hemisphere nations; and restoration of human rights and freedoms in Cuba, including religious freedom.

There hasn't been a single election in Castro's "paradise" since he came to power. That's a point worth talking about, too.

Recent conciliatory gestures by Castro, including the return of $2 million ransom money he had impounded in connection with a U.S. airliner hijacking, indicates that he is ready to talk turkey with the United States.

Since we can accomplish both humanitarian and national objectives in the process, it's time for the Washington establishment to lift its Cuban dialogue above the level of that advertising slogan, "Since we're neighbors, let's be friends."

furthermore... by Jim Arkison

I swear that when I wrote about equal rights for women in the last column I did not realize that it would appear on the observance of "Women's Day." I learned about that on the way home over the car radio.

From the reaction I have had to my remarks the good ladies of Yorba Linda liked what I said, especially the part about them "receiving the common courtesies due them."

Many folks buy extra copies of our paper to send stories of pictures about them or members of their families to relatives living elsewhere. Generally, they buy between five and ten copies.

Once in a while we'll have a really big but, say 20 to 25 papers. That happened when we ran the story on the first boy born to the Marty Anderson family. Proud Poppa bought 25 copies.

Then in the next edition we ran a picture of the family of Andersons with little Marty being featured, along with his seven sisters. Pop bought 25 copies but then returned to purchase another 100. We believe that might be a record in newspaper history.

At least it is at this paper. Now we are faced with the challenge of digging up another story or photo or combination of both which will make it necessary for someone to break the record of 125 copies.

All those activities which youngsters promised themselves they would do this summer, either recreation-wise or in a serious vein, that they haven't accomplished as yet are going to have to be done in a hurry.

Time is running out and school opens next Wednesday. Feverish preparations are being made by school district officials and faculty and administrators are gearing themselves to the 10 month task of education which faces them.

Although dressing up for the first day of school is not the tradition it used to be I'll make a sure fire bet that at least one little girl shows up in a plaid dress.

In my grammar school days it was just the other way around. The girl who didn't have a plaid dress stuck out like the proverbial "sore thumb." Remember?

Readers might recall that recently I was somewhat critical of the 55 miles per hour speed regulation under certain conditions. Now comes a sobering thought for me and those readers who may have agreed with what I wrote.

The Western Insurance Information Service claims that for a repair shop to replace a $5,500 totally demolished 1975 popular car by putting together one just like it would cost approximately $23,250.

This information points out the fact that the cost of repairing collision damage have increased at an alarming rate during the past few years with parts prices being the major factor in the upward spiral.

Now, it is true that accidents can happen when observing the speed limit as well as when exceeding it. But, speed is a major factor in accidents and it may behoove all the normal leadfoots and the occasional one like me to pay attention to what might happen.

True, it is very seldom that a totaled car is repaired and put back on the road but even anything less than that totaling the vehicle is adding to the cost of repairs and the ultimate cost of car insurance which is the point of the information.

Esperanza Opens $1.5 Million Phase

When students return to Esperanza High School in the Placentia Unified School District September 10, they will find almost 45,000 square feet of new classrooms to house their rapidly-growing student population.

The additions complete the district's newest high school, which opened last year at 1830 N. Kellogg Dr., Anaheim, and increase the student capacity by 50 per cent, according to Dr. John Parrish, principal.

The phase II construction amounts to $1.5 million, making the total cost of the campus approximately $6.35 million.

Included in the new 44,676 square-foot addition are 20 classrooms for history and English, a 400-seat performing arts facility which can be used as four separate classrooms, vocal and instrumental music rooms, facilities for drawing and painting and ceramics classes, an addition to the wrestling room and a room for girls' dance and gymnastics classes.

Official capacity of the campus is 1,850 students, but because of the flexibility available in class scheduling and the new facility, Esperanza will be able to accommodate almost 2,000 students, Parrish said.

Student enrollment this fall is expected to jump by more than 250 over last spring, making a fall population of approximately 1,550, Parrish noted.

Esperanza High School, which was designed by William Blurock & Partners of Corona del Mar, is built on a modified open classroom concept. All walls, except those in science areas with built-in equipment, are movable to increase flexibility of the buildings.

DEDICATION of Carbon Canyon Park attracted a large crowd which viewed and used the new facilities following the ceremonies at which local, county and state officials participated. The pastoral setting is an ideal place for family and individual recreation for area folks.

PUSD Bus Schedules Available

Bus schedules for the Placentia Unified School District have been printed and are available at all of the district's 21 schools.

Students who live beyond designated walking distances to their schools are eligible for busing, according to supervisor of transportation Ed Mier. Distances are a mile for kindergarten through third grades, 1 1/2 miles for fourth through sixth grades, 1 1/2 miles for seventh and eighth grades and 2 1/2 miles for ninth through twelfth grades.

"These distances are used as guidelines for providing student transportation," Mier explained. "Exceptions may be made when the safety of students is at question or when a student's physical condition requires transportation."

Most of the schedules remain about the same as last year's, Mier said.

All students living within the Brookhaven, Golden, Sierra Vista, Van Buren and Wagner elementary areas and El Dorado High School are within walking distance of their schools.

Almost 4,000 students are bused daily to Placentia district schools, Mier noted. Eight 16-passenger buses transport students to special education classes throughout the district. In addition, 20 large-79 and 91 passenger buses--will service students in Placentia schools.

Information about specific busing schedules may be obtained by calling schools in the attendance area in question.

Senior Citizens Head To Speak

The executive director of the 4-million-member National Council of Senior Citizens is coming to Orange County for a major speech on future federal legislation for the elderly.

William R. Hutton, of Washington, D.C., will address senior citizens at an open meeting at 1:30 p.m., Thursday, September 11, at the Anaheim Senior Citizens' Center, 222 East Charters Street. His visit to the county is sponsored by the Orange County Senior Citizens' Council.

Hutton is in charge of the National Council's information programs, is editor of the Senior Citizens' News and project director of the Senior Aides Employment Program. He also plays a major role in advocacy and lobbying efforts at the federal level in behalf of the elderly.

ADA Names Chairman

Heading the new season for the American Diabetes Association's Orange County Unit will be Bill Wood of Newport Beach. Wood is manager of Engineering Administration at Collins Radio Group, Rockwell International.

The OC Unit of ADA sponsors monthly educational meetings which are held on the first Tuesday evening of each month in the auditorium of Childrens Hospital or in the Loyola Marymount College Auditorium of St. Joseph Hospital, both in Orange.

In addition to Chairman Wood, the new unit council includes Fred Beuger of Mission Viejo (who is chairman-elect), Dorothy Grillias, Susan Sutherland, Marie Fox, Beverly Hoff-strom, Barbara Machado, and Roberta Green.

The medical advisors for the unit include Drs. Edward Arquilla, Peter Bramwell, Merl J. Carson, Russell Poucher, Jack Quick, Raymond Ross, Terry Steinberg and Ralph Stocker.

HELPING HAND—Bill Clay, Northeast Chairman of the United Way of Orange County North/South 1975 Campaign, symbolizes what the United Way is all about as he helps a youngster climb out of the deep end of the pool at the North Orange County YMCA.

High School Diplomas Possible For Adults

Counseling appointments have begun for adults who want to take advantage of customized instruction programs leading to a high school diploma.

The instruction offered through the Adult Education Division, North Orange County Community College District, is customized to the extent that students may choose the more traditional classroom approach or at-your-own-pace programmed instruction.

One reason counseling sessions are required, according to Donald L. Kennedy, Adult Education Division director, is the need to determine what life experiences can contribute to graduation credit.

World Literacy Day Sept. 7

North Orange County Literacy Council will focus on the problem of illiteracy in the area when World Literacy Day is observed September 7.

Each year this date is set aside to publicize the needs of about one-third of the world's adults who are illiterate.

The local group will be one of a nation-wide network of volunteer literacy units participating in World Literacy Day activities.

Recognition will be made in many area churches. Displays will be set up at Fullerton Main Library, 353 West Commonwealth, Hunt Branch Library, 201 S. Basque, and at Anaheim Central Library, 500 W. Broadway.

Volunteer teachers are trained to teach the Laubach Literacy method. Primarily, the need in Orange County is to teach English as a second language. Recently, the influx of Vietnamese in this area has necessitated additional volunteer teachers.

Subjects and 80 must be in what are called "regular subjects," such as math and English.

Adults can shorten their graduation preparation time by taking the General Educational Development test through which they can earn the 80 elective subject credits.

A recent survey of students indicated that 32 per cent of students in the program returned to school so that they could go on to college. The same percentage cited the desire for personal improvement, and another 30 per cent felt that getting their high school diplomas would improve their employment potentials.

Adults who want to take advantage of the community college district adult high school diploma program may obtain additional information and schedule counseling appointments by telephoning 870-4990, ext. 27, or 635-8560.

Fall term instruction will begin the week of September 15.

HORSE TALES

by Joan Johnson

Mary Kay Gillen has whipped up another article covering some of the many aspects of dressage training.

She starts out by listing the basic requirements. The first year level requires: halt (stand) immobile for five seconds; ordinary walk; free walk; working trot (rising and sitting); extended trot (rising and sitting) ordinary canter (on both leads); change of leads (by moving through trot); moving straight down the center; turning corners (right and left); executing a half-circle (33 feet) and returning to track; circle 26 feet (left and right); circle 33 feet (half of the arena-left and right); circle 66 feet (width of the arena-left and right); change rein (by diagonally moving).

The requirements for the second year level are: rein back (horse's length); extended walk; shoulder in and straighten; half-turn on haunches (left and right); serpentine four loops, width of arena.

The qualities that apply to all gaits, movements and figures are being prompt, precise, straight, smooth, regular, having impulsion, calm, and on the bit.

She next discusses the various gaits. Ordinary walk: moderate extension, horse covers more ground than at the ordinary walk, without haste, without losing regularity of steps. Feet touch the ground beyond footprints of forefeet. Head and neck are stretched out. Faults: little or no extension; little difference from ordinary walk; faster, rather than extended.

Free walk: gait relaxation; encouraged to lengthen stride and achieve complete freedom of head. Faults: jiggling; variable pace; not relaxed; head and neck not stretched; stride not lengthened; contact too strong; reins too loose; loss of impulsion. Working trot: a little slower and less extended, but faster and covers more ground than a collected trot.

Ordinary trot: pace between extended and collected trot. Extended trot: stride lengthened. Ordinary canter: a pace between collected and extended. The horse moves freely in natural balance, it's strides long and even, increasing impulsion. Faults: not straight; unbalanced; uneven stride.

Change of lead at canter: bring down to trot for several steps and restart with other leg. Faults: change abrupt, rough and not straight; horse resisting or excited. Reinback: Faults: resisting, dragging, uneven, not straight.

Turn on haunches: keys to movement: (1) fixing hind quarters as pivot by using outside leg; (2) prevent horse from backing by applying inside leg; (3) displacement of shoulders (direct and indirect rein).

Shoulder in: the most pronounced bend is at the poll and just behind the withers. The rider can see the full bulge of the eye. Shorten the right rein (if that's the direction in which you are going).

Mason's Picnic

In the Bicentennial spirit, the Yorba Linda Masonic Lodge #469 will hold their annual Constitution Observation Family Picnic on Sunday, September 14, 1975 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. in Nixon Park at Yorba Linda Blvd. and Main St.

The guest speaker will be from the Los Angeles Research Lodge. For information call Mr. Dominguez, 637-7503.

The Planning Commission members of Placentia often tussle for long periods of time over the sign requests of local businessmen. The Commission who has the power to approve or deny sign requests often find themselves in a real dilemma.

On the one hand is the local businessman who may have invested his life savings in a business, and of course, he needs a sign large enough to show his location plainly. On the other hand, the Commission doesn't want Placentia to end up in a weltering profusion of signs that flash, blink and come in a bewildering array of sizes.

Consequently, almost any sign request will cause the Commissioners to discuss such particulars as the material used in making the sign, size, illumination, placement and color of the sign. The study the sketches and designs of the proposed sign and the whole thing can drag on and on.

One smart businessman came prepared to last week's meeting. He marched into the polished, carpeted and upholstered chambers at City Hall determined to gain approval. He carried not sketches or pictures but the real thing—a hefty and attractive sign. There were no questions, no hassle, just a quick look and instant approval by somewhat startled Commissioners.

What a way to cut through the red tape!

Moving

People are funny. We have furniture stored in the garage and with neighbors, furniture stored in a warehouse and furniture in out townhouse. Now we are moving into a home we purchased in North Placentia and what's the first thing my wife did—ordered more furniture.

That's not bad enough, she's planning a garage sale to get rid of those items she terms excess-like my favorite couch! Husbands ought to unite!

Huxley Wrote

"Perhaps the most valuable result of all education is the ability to make yourself do the thing you have to do, when it ought to be done, whether you like it or not. This is the first lesson to be learned."

Brooks Wrote

"Do not pray for easy lives; pray to be stronger men. Do not pray for tasks equal to your powers; pray for powers equal to your tasks. Then the doing of your work shall be no miracle, but you shall be a miracle. Every day you shall wonder at yourself, at the richness of life which has come by the grace of God."

Poet Wakely

The toys and blocks with which we play are houses, lands and gold. Their values quickly pass away. As does a tale that's told. But kindly, gracious deeds abide. Their wealth will not depart; Their flowers of joy are multiplied In gardens of the heart.

Library Showcase

New 16mm films:

Nearly a dozen new films have arrived and will be added to the Yorba Linda library's permanent collection.

Three are Dr. Seuss classics "Green Eggs and Ham", "The Sneetches" and "The Zax," loved by adults as well as children and each with a pointed message painlessly delivered.

There are also two mini-comedies "Berth Marks," and "Hog Wild," with favorites Laurel and Hardy. Two more guaranteed to generate smiles and chuckles are "Birthday Blues," featuring the Little Rascals and "Dragon Stew," a story about a gourmet king and his cook who never does.

Rounding out the list are: "Adventures In Perception," a study of the works of the currently popular artist E.M. Escher; "The World of the Beaver," a nature film with an ecological theme and "Water Safety."

These films and projectors may be reserved by calling the A-V department 528-7039 during library hours.
